OASIS – The Shock Of Lightning.

Oasis fans fear not, the rowdiest rockers currently gracing the UK pop scene are back with a single very much within their comfort zone. Liam's familiar nasal drawl, accompanied by a hypnotic beat and vibrant guitar sections, signal the lads' return to tip-top form. 4

ELBOW – The Bones Of You. Their first single release since scooping the Mercury Prize earlier this month, a track which soars and pulsates leaving the listener to marvel at the masterful production and lyrics. 4

WEEZER – Troublemaker. These long-standing heroes of the LA rock scene serve up a repetitive, but infectious dose of sunny guitar music. 3

BOYZONE – Love You Anyway. These Irish babe magnets (circa 1998) are back, only minus the white suits and a stirring ballad. This upbeat, Sixties-inspired track is pleasant enough, if forgettable. 3

ROLL DEEP – Do Me Wrong. Electro-based grime with a characteristic booming bassline. Not for the faint-hearted. 3

BASSHUNTER – Angel In The Night. Not quite reaching the euphoria of club hit Now You're Gone, this is like cheesy Swedish pop set against the Sonic The Hedgehog soundtrack. 1

MR SCRUFF – Music Takes Me Up. Typically eclectic, Scruff has chosen to fuse funk and soul on this laidback number which features a sultry female vocal. 3,5

PINK – So What. "So what, I am a rock star" yells Pink in the ear of her listener. Really? There was me thinking she was a fairly talentless pop singer with too much aggressive energy. Cringey lyrics and messy production. 2

HOT CLUB DE PARIS – My Little Haunting. A sweet lo-fi Indie track with a sunny melody and obligatory northern vocal. 3,5

PENDULUM – Granite. The energetic electro-powered noise you might expect from these drum and bass wizz kids. 3

BJORK – The Dull Flame Of Desire. Unusual, majestic seven-and-a-half minute collaboration with Anthony (of The Johnsons), both unnerving and brilliant. 4

LUNIK – Do You Love Me. They're Swiss and a tad cheesy but they know their way around a pop hook. Oh, and Blondie star Nigel Harrison rates them – and he knows a thing about hits. 3
